Ready Writers Camp is designed to help elementary school aged kids to improve handwriting skills through practice of visual skills, motor skills, and body awareness in a fun activity-oriented setting.

Children with difficulties of keeping up in class, messy handwriting, or slow-to-complete work may benefit from this camp. Each camp day consists of activities geared towards a full body approach to handwriting including visual, sensory and motor systems. Our camp director, Occupational Therapist Andrea McElroy and the qualified staff at Boulder Valley Vision Therapy know that handwriting is more than just a pencil and paper.
